

Public Notice

Notice is hereby given that Commonwealth Environmental Associates Inc., has prepared and delivered results of a site characterization report and remediation efforts for the former dry cleaners located within the Quioccasin Station Shopping Center in Richmond, Virginia, to the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) Voluntary Remediation Program (VRP) on behalf of Manakin Farms, Inc., Post Office Box 29661 Richmond, Virginia 23242. PCE, a chemical used in dry cleaning operations has caused contamination to the soil, groundwater and soil gas at the property. Identification of the extent of contamination and a risk assessment has been performed. Remedial solutions include proposed land use controls prohibiting groundwater usage and residential usage at the site. In addition, an engineering control consisting of a vapor extraction system has been installed beneath the slab of the dry cleaner and will remain operational. The DEQ VRP is evaluating the issuance of a Certificate of Satisfactory Completion following this 30 day public notice period. If you wish to comment during this time please contact Dan Goodman (804) 275-9320 ext. 16 or in writing to Commonwealth Environmental Associates, Inc., 7411 Iron Bridge Road, Richmond, Virginia 23237.
